

Kiss of the Romantic

© 2007 Kiss of the Romantic

ROMANTIC WORKSHOP #9

DEFENDING YOUR PARTNER

Sooner or later it will happen, if it hasn't happened already. Someone will not approve of who you have chosen to be your significant other. Or suddenly someone disagrees with your mate and goes on the attack, or some nasty person is making things difficult. Who will come to his or her defense?

This workshop is a short one but nonetheless an important one; and of course an obvious one for most people. Still, it needs to be said, “DEFEND YOUR PARTNER AT ALL COST”! That statement was bold and capitalized for a reason. You must never waver when it comes to defending your life partner. Why is this so important? Well, think about it, wouldn't you feel betrayed if your partner sided with an antagonist or attacker? Even if it was your partners' relatives or best friend that your partner sided with, the partner will have done a thing which is difficult at best to forgive. A rift is formed in your relationship and intimacy is no longer spontaneous. Apologies are difficult to accept and trust is at an ebb. Yes, this is one of the worst things you can do to harm your romance and relationship. That is why you must “DEFEND YOUR PARTNER AT ALL COST”!